Our students have been preparing for taking part in the Stockholm Furniture Fair next month. Lots of prototypes have been lying around since well before Christmas, the workshop busy and planning for the stall design has been a project done by our visual communication and interior design students. Today the selection of products was announced. Some quite interesting products made it through the selection process. They are still in prototype form and some need definitely more work done. Well, there is still a month to go. The picture shows the state of some of the things today.
